Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to all claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Note: Nishiyama is being interpreted in a different manner as described below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 35, 37, 38, 39, 40, 42-44, 47 and 56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nishiyama, U.S. Patent No. 6,347,225.

Regarding claims 35, 37, 38, 39, 40, 42-44, 47 and 56 Nishiyama discloses a portable telephone (figures 1 and 2) that allows transmission of a message wherein information is displayed on a display and in response to monitoring/detecting a predetermined content (i.e. a telephone number of a caller), a formatted response message is automatically transmitted to a caller thereby allowing a user to remotely transmit a message from the telephone as evidenced by the fact that the user inherently programs the telephone numbers and the desired corresponding messages (col. 1, lines 39-44 and col. 3, lines 19-60).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2681

7. Claims 36, 41, 45, 46, 48, 49 and 53-55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishiyama in view of Cristal, U.S. Patent No. 5,875,403.

Regarding claims 36, 41, 45, 46, 48, 49, 53, 54 and 55, Nishiyama discloses the limitations as described above.

Nishiyama, however, fails to disclose wherein the phone has e-mail capabilities. Christal reads on the e-mail capabilities (i.e. SMS capabilities).

Therefore, at the time of invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify Nishiyama with the teachings of Christal for the purpose of giving a user of the phone more advanced features.
